Reliable, natural products from a trusted processor and supplier

At CTH, quality is not just a characteristic of our products and processes – it is an indispensable part of our vision. We are dedicated to consistently providing you with safe ingredients and playing a vital role in your supply chain. With fresh, traceable materials, the strictest safety protocols, and a commitment to sustainability, we aim to be a partner you can trust.

Natural casings

Superior sausages demand excellent casings. Whether you are a specialized sausage maker or an industrial trader or production manager, in CTH, you will find an accessible, reliable, and fast-moving supplier of natural casings.

Local food specialties

From pig chitterlings for France's andouille soup to pork, beef, or lamb tripe for stews and other local delicacies, our traceable, natural meat by-products are relished as taste and value-adders by consumers and manufacturers worldwide.

Pet food solutions

At CTH, we know how much pets mean to their owners. We support pet food manufacturers with fresh, first-class ingredients of high nutritional value – carefully produced to keep pets satisfied and owners happy.

Pharma

First-class pharma solutions require high-quality ingredients. We offer all-natural, premium ingredients produced with sustainability, extracted with expertise, and with unmatched traceability - all at competitive prices due to our global scale.

doing everything we can to take good care of our planet. We're eager to team up with you and, together, work towards better products and a better future – for people, animals, and the planet.

Our traceability, your selling point

With CTH, you can assure consumers that the materials we use are sourced from only the highest quality animals and the safest production lines. They are fully fit for consumption. The level of traceability CTH offers you can become a key distinguishing factor when selecting your materials.

Direct sourcing, seamless operational integration

All of our products are sourced directly from abattoirs, where our operations are seamlessly integrated into the slaughtering process. This means we have total control over the materials we process, from the moment we extract them to the moment you receive them. We carefully select all of our fresh raw materials ourselves. After that, the products are processed according to strict protocols at one of our own processing sites. Because of our unique approach to selecting and processing materials ourselves, we can guarantee the full traceability of all of our products, giving you, and your customers, peace of mind.

Safeguarding the strictest quality & safety standards

As a world-leading natural casings and meat by-products producer, we have a duty to provide the safest products possible. Throughout our history, we have continually focused on improving health and safety standards. The result for you: you can ensure your buyers that your products are safe, trustworthy, and reliable.

As we have grown and developed, so has the expertise of our employees across the world. As a result, we are able to follow the strictest quality standards and adhere to numerous food safety regulations. Our operations and products are completely compliant with a number of safety and quality management systems, such as:

- HACCP: Hazard Analysis and Critical Control Point
- BRC Global Standard for Food Safety
- IFS: International Featured Standards

Premium, market-specific ingredients

A successful, optimized product or solution requires the best possible ingredients. Our industry experience and technical expertise have given us a deep understanding of market-specific needs and wants around the world, enabling us to provide you with the highest value-adding ingredients you can get.

Natural products that suit your requirements

From artisanal sausage makers to leading pharma or pet food manufacturers, as a producer, you require the best possible products: those that you can trust – delicious, healthy traceable, and sustainably produced, sourced from the best raw material.

By sourcing fresh materials and processing them ourselves, according to the highest quality standards at our own facilities, we supply you with only the best and safest meat by-products.

Committed to safety, reliability, and sustainability

As ingredients manufacturers, we want to be trusted for providing traceable ingredients produced through sustainable means. In today's world, nothing less will do. This is why, at CTH, we consider integrity to be a key part of our culture. We want to make sure you can be confident that our products are safe and effective – and that we're

Improve your ecological performance

At CTH, we are dedicated to playing our part in protecting the environment: from sustainable production methods to caring for the environment and its resources. Of course, utilizing animal by-products is a sustainable activity by nature. On top of this, we are always looking for ways to progress and improve, taking sustainability even further. By partnering with us, you are automatically improving your own ecological performance. Together, we can work towards a better future.

Count on us

As we source our materials from across the world from many renowned, high-quality companies, we have a healthy spread of raw materials suppliers. This steady flow ensures that we can always deliver as promised. With CTH, you can be sure that you have a robust and reliable partner to work with.
