Q: What do you like most about your job role?

A: I love the variety of tasks that I have in my role. From working with our Senior Account Executives on our sales team, making sure all equipment is ready for installations, to working with our equipment manufacturers. The best part is when the project is successfully completed. Seeing the progress of equipment installations from start to finish is very rewarding.

Q: What is your favorite part about working at DAR PRO?

A: The family atmosphere. From the first day that I started, I felt welcome in the company. Everyone made me feel a part of the team.

Q: What did you know about the recycling industry before working here, and what do you know now?

A: I had no clue about the recycling industry prior to working here. I have learned a lot more, especially with used cooking oil recycling. I look for our tanks when I am at different restaurants, and I am interested to see what type of fryers they are using. I even do more recycling in my personal life than I did before working here. I'm much more aware, and I want to make a positive impact on the environment, in and out of work.

Q: How do you help the customer?

A: Although I don't personally interact with the customer, I make sure our sales team and installers have everything they need for when they contact the customers. So that way, they can give good service to the customer, based on what I equipped them with.

Q: What is your favorite fried food?

A: Onion rings, from anywhere. Arby's had the best onion rings, but they no longer sell them. I really enjoyed them!
