What is collagen?

Collagen is the most abundant protein in the body that ensures the cohesion, elasticity and strength of all our connective tissues.

skin bones
joints tendons
ligaments

After we turn 30, our collagen levels start to drop, leading to signs of aging.

Introducing Peptan

Peptan are bioactive collagen peptides produced by controlled enzymatic hydrolysis of natural native collagen.

Peptan's unique amino acid composition is high in hydroxyproline and glycine, which allows formation of bioactive peptides offering specific health benefits.

What are the benefits of Peptan®?
